Order

Section BH 1 of the Income Tax Act 2007

These regulations, which come into force on 24 September 2026, implement, into New Zealand law, the Agreement between New Zealand and the Republic of Slovenia for the elimination of double taxation with respect to taxes on income and the prevention of tax evasion and avoidance. The Agreement itself will come into force following an exchange of diplomatic notes, with it taking effect according to the Agreement's provision after that.

Background

New Zealand has a network of 41 double tax agreements (DTAs). DTAs are designed to reduce double taxation, increase certainty and minimise other tax impediments to cross-border economic activity and investment.

On 3 December 2024, New Zealand signed the Agreement between New Zealand and the Republic of Slovenia for the elimination of double taxation with respect to taxes on income and the prevention of tax evasion and avoidance (the Slovenian DTA).

A key reason for negotiating the Slovenian DTA was that Slovenia is a member of the European Union (EU), and New Zealand has negotiated a Free Trade Agreement (FTA) with the EU. DTAs can help maximise the benefits of FTAs. Slovenia, like New Zealand, is also a member of the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), which expressly recommends DTAs be negotiated between its members.

Effective date

The Double Tax Agreements (Republic of Slovenia) Order 2026 entered into force on 24 September 2026. The DTA will enter into force through the exchange of diplomatic notes between Slovenia and New Zealand. The provisions of the DTA will take effect as per the agreed terms in the text.
